BEFORE CHOOSING YOUR ELECTIVES YOU SHOULD CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

- Do I have space in my course with my choice of major for electives and how many?
- What areas of study interest me?
- Am I interested in study abroad or completing a semester of study at Monash Malaysia or South Africa for one semester?

As part of your degree you may wish to consider one semester of study at an overseas university. This program can be undertaken after you have completed at least one full year at Monash University, subject to hurdle requirements and subject to having space in your course and major.

FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED WHEN CHOOSING ELECTIVES

- The semester when the unit is offered;
- Pre-requisite requirements (units/subjects that need to be passed before enrolling into the elective);
- The course requirements eg. the maximum number of units allowed at first year level and the minimum number of units required at third year level;
- The number of units that must be completed on your home campus;
- The weighted average mark required to be considered for study abroad.

Course information can be found in both the handbook and at the top of your course map.

Remember not all degree programs have the same number of elective units. The number of electives will depend on the course and major you are enrolled in.

Please note that some units are subject to enrolment restrictions.
UNITS AVAILABLE

Check the Monash University Handbook to confirm units offered in 2010. You can narrow down your search by viewing the units by:

- Unit Code
- Unit Name
- Faculty

ENROLLING IN ELECTIVE UNITS

You may use your electives to:

- Complete a second major;
- Complete studies abroad or through the exchange program (provided you have met the Faculty criteria and course campus criteria);
- Study units from within the faculty or other faculties of the university.

Units offered by other faculties can be found at:
