

Undergraduate Orientation Day – Clayton

Tuesday 24 February 2010

University life is an exciting and demanding academic and social experience. The Business and Economics Orientation program will help you to adjust to tertiary study, settle into university life and meet the staff and students with whom you will work in your studies.

During the orientation program, you will:

1. learn about Monash and the Faculty;
2. hear about our expectations and requirements of undergraduate students; and
3. participate in activities designed to help you to develop effective study approaches and make the most of your time at Monash.
